Welcome to the second issue of "Antioch Update," a weekly electronic newsletter that we are sending to the Antioch community to keep everyone updated on College and University news. It is being brought to you by the University's Vice Chancellor for University Advancement and the Director of the College's News & Information Office.

Please let us know how we can make this weekly update more effective. You may send your suggestions to Vice Chancellor for University Advancement Mary Lou LaPierre at mllapierre@antiochseattle.edu.

Recent updates at Antioch include:

Alumni Board Treasurer Meets with Chancellor's Staff

In a spirit of collaboration and openness, CFO Tom Faecke and Chancellor Toni Murdock met with Alumni

Board Treasurer Rick Daily, Laura Fathauer and Jason Fregeau on September 6 to review in detail 28 financial documents that were essential to the decision the Board of Trustees made to suspend operations of the College

This information had been offered to the Alumni Board at the Trustees' meeting on August 25 when the Trustees committed to working collaboratively with Alumni Board to allow them develop a sustainable financial and academic plan for the continued operation of the College. In addition, discussions took place and the Alumni Board agreed to set priorities for, and work closely with the Advancement Office regarding future fundraising efforts.

College Revival Fund Reaches $12 Million

The College Revival fund has reached a total of $12 million in cash and pledges, an amount equal to the entire endowment of Bennington College. Donors have earmarked the money to be used only for the continuation of Antioch as a residential undergraduate College with a tenured faculty that is moving toward a system of self-governance. For more information about the College Revival Fund or the efforts to keep Antioch College open past the proposed July 2008 suspension, please visit www.antiochians.org. McGregor moved into its new building the week of September 5th. Classes in all programs begin by September 22nd, and McGregor officials now are busy with activities ranging from registration and admissions to some early program starts. McGregor staff and faculty are excited about the new campus, its 23 classrooms, 250-seat auditorium and 120-seat multi-purpose room for classes and use by the community. More information on the building and McGregor can be found at www.mcgregor.edu including the Campus West Fact Sheet and AUM Fact Sheet.

Transition Fair at the College

Students transitioning from the College during or after the 2007-08 academic year attended an Antioch College Transfer Fair last weekend. All Antioch campuses were represented on the first day to offer information about their undergraduate and graduate academic programs. Students at the fair also were able to meet with officials from more than 35 colleges and universities to explore options at those institutions, as well as those at the College's Antioch Education Abroad program.

Neal King Inauguration Oct. 2-5

Neal King will be officially inaugurated Oct. 2-5 as the first president of Antioch University Los Angeles in events rich with visual art, music, dance and academic traditions.

A psychologist by training, President King joined Antioch in the fall of 2004 as Antioch New England's academic dean and nine months later was appointed interim president. President King currently serves on three of the six regional accrediting bodies for higher education in the United States. Read More at Antioch Los Angeles
